

“A thing of beauty is a joy forever.”

John Keats

Pairs of Words

Prepared by:

Meraj Momen

1. Consciousness (n) (the state of understanding and realizing something) Consciousness is required for taking right decisions.
2. Conscientiousness (concerned with doing something correctly) I am conscientious that examination needs hardworking to be passed.
3. Accessory (n) (a helper) I need an accessory in my project.
4. Accessory. (adj) (additional) Your idea is accessory in this project.
5. Abject (adj) (miserable, terrible) Our journey was very abject that we faced several challenges in the way.
6. Abate (v) (grow less) After the rain stopped, the storm started to abate slightly in 2007.
7. Abet (v) (help, encourage) Every father must abet his children in difficult circumstances.
8. Ingenious (adj) (very clever) He is ingenious at finding the false.
9. Ingenuous (adj) (honest, sincere) I am ingenuous regarding for my career.
10. Obsolete (adj) (no longer in use) Ballad is an obsolete type of poetry.
11. Fantastic (adj) (extremely good) It is a fantastic idea.
12. Fanatical (adj) (extreme in wishes and emotions) He is fanatical in the religion.
13. Refrain (v) (to stop oneself from doing something) He refrained his friend from smoking cigarettes.

14. Accede (v) (to agree with an opinion or proposal) I am acceded to the proposal of Sana Baloch for disabled persons.
15. Acceptation (n) (the usual accepted meaning) There are many acceptations of the word 'ostentation.'
16. Concede (v) (admit to be true) He forced me to concede him right.
17. Honorable (adj) (respectable) Shakeel is honorable person in the society.
18. Honorary (adj) (give honor to someone) I was given honorary welcome by people in USA.
19. Statesman (n) (an experienced politician) American people believe in the ideology of statesman.
20. Adept (n) (skillful) Amer Khan is an adept actor.
21. Admittance (n) (the right to enter) I want admittance for Oxford.
22. Grateful (adj) (expressing thank) I am grateful to you that you have fulfilled my wish.
23. Gratify (v) (to satisfy someone) I am gratified by your argument in this issue.
24. Aisle (n) (corridor) I found him sitting in aisle after his father slapped him.
25. Isle (n) (island) I want to live in an isle.
26. Irritate (v) (to make someone anger, annoyed or impatient. To make (part of body) sore or painful) Never irritate your friends before the people.

27. Corroborate (n) (to prove a statement or theory by providing information) Your research corroborated my research.
28. Conform (v) (to obey or agree with something, to be similar to) Your search topic conforms to my research topic.
29. Consecutive (v) (following one after another) Shoaib Malik took wickets on three consecutive balls.
30. Contagious (adj) (pass one to another) It is a contagious virus spread in our village.
31. Contiguous (adj) (adjoining) Pakistan is contiguous with Iran.
32. Contemptuous (adj) (full of hatred) He is always contemptuous to me.
33. Corporal (adj) (relating to body) Corporal punishment is banned for students in the schools.
34. Corporeal (adj) (physical) Corporeal torture affects the organs of body.
35. Cymbal (n) (a musical instrument) I want to play cymbal.
36. Contemn (v) (despise) I contemn loose friend.
37. Diseased (adj) (ill, sick) Modern people are diseased with extra usage of technology.
38. Defective (adj) (having fault or flaw) Sheraz is a defective person.

39. Deficient (adj) (not having enough of something)
There are many places which have deficient water in Balochistan.
40. Dissent (v) (disagree) I dissent with you disgusting idea.
41. Decent (adj) (nice, polite) He is a decent boy.
42. Dessert (n) (sweet dish served after meal) I eat Gawaderi sweet as dessert after lunch.
43. Devise (v) (to invent) Thomas Edison invented bulb.
44. Dye (v) (to color) Nowadays it is fashion that old people dye their hair.
45. Disburse (v) (to give money) Government disbursed 1000000 to me as an award.
46. Disperse (v) (scatter) Air disperses plastics.
47. Discreet (adj) (judicious, showing good judgment) I am searching discreet information about my family background.
48. Discrete (adj) (separate) Everyone has his/her discrete identification.
49. Draught (n) (cold air) In morning, air gives draught.
50. Droop (v) (bow) Do not droop before people, only droop before Allah.
51. Proscribe (v) (to ban) America has proscribed Huawei Company to sell its cell phones in the world market.
52. Soar (v) (to rise) The rocket soared into the air.

53. Soot (n) (black smoke) Please sweep the soot of my room's ceiling.
54. Suite (n) (a set of rooms) I want to build up a luxurious suite for me.
55. Specious (adj) (proper) He lacks specious management in the life.
56. Stationary (adj) (fixed) Honda Company made the price of its new branded car stationary for three years.
57. Strait (n) (narrow passage of water connecting two seas) The Bering Strait separates Asia and America.
58. Teem (v) (full of) Merani Dam is teeming with water.
59. Tenor (n) (highest adult male singing voice) He has thrilling tenor.
60. Tenure (n) (period) The tenure of Pakistan Government is five years.
61. Genteel (adj) (graceful) He is a genteel boy.
62. Gilt (adj) (having a golden color) I have a gilt car.
63. Ghastly (adj) (horrible) Situation is ghastly in Balochistan.
64. Hale (adj) (healthy) Nowadays you are hale after the treatment.
65. Hoard (v) (to store) I am hoarding dramas of Shakespeare for my research.
66. Horde (n) (great number) Protesters are marching towards provincial assembly in horde.

67. Idle (adj) (not working) My car has been idle for three years.
68. Imply (v) (express indirectly) Your silence is implying your love with Shazia.
69. Infer (v) (to draw conclusion) It was finally inferred that Hussain was corrupt in the team.
70. Incredible (adj) (unbelievable) His performance was incredible.
71. Incredulous (adj) (not willing) I am incredulous to your opinion.
72. Injunction (n) (official order) Government announced an injunction for ceasefire.
73. Judicious (adj) (wise) Bacon was a judicious person.
74. Junction (n) (place of meeting) Simla was junction of Muslims and British Governor for the deputation.
75. Exceptionable (adj) (objectionable) Your role in politics is exceptionable.
76. Exceptional (adj) (extra-ordinary) He is an exceptional student.
77. Mane (n) (the long heavy air) I like mane to have.
78. Merry (adj) (happy) She is a merry girl.
79. Mettle (n) (courage) I have mettle to face any situation whether difficult.
- 80. Met
81. Implicit (adj) (unquestioning) His role is implicit in the politics.

82. Morale (n) (courage) I lost my morale in writing competition.
83. Plane (v) (to make smooth) The machine is planing the woods for a table.
84. Plain (adj) (simple, clear) His answer is plain.
85. Prosecute (v) (to institute a legal suit) The court prosecuted me that I persuaded him to kill the person.
86. Faint (adj) (feeble) Her voice was faint in singing competition so she lose it.
87. Feint (n) (in sport: a quick movement to trick an opponent) Bravo made a feint to give a remarkable goal.
88. Feat (n) (a trick) He often wins games through feats.
89. Foul (adj) (unpleasant) I had a foul day with you yesterday.
90. Funereal (adj) (gloomy) I spent a funereal day with you in journey to Dubai.
91. Gambol (v) (to run and jump happily) My dog gambols in dawn.
92. Gaol (n) (jail) I have experienced gaol in my life.
93. Negligent (adj) (not being careful) You are negligent about your studies.
94. Negligible (adj) (small in amount) Your car is negligible.
95. Aggravate (v) (to make worse, to increase) Misconception is aggravated by the lack of understanding.

96. Aggregate (adj) (total) I am securing aggregate of 1500 marks.
97. Rectify (v) (to make correct) If you want to make your hotel famous, you have to rectify the problem of waiters misbehave to customers.
98. Choir (n) (a group of singers) I need a choir for my marriage party.
99. Clamant (adj) (noisy) Allah Din Park is clamant.
100. Claimant (n) (a person who claims) Sheraz is claimant of this property after his brother died.
101. Consort (n) (association) There is a consort between lawyers and teachers for their demands.
102. Credible (adj) (able to be believed) Research must be credible.
103. Cue (n) (signal, hint) We need some cues for preparation of C.S.S. Exam.
104. Alibi (n) (a defense of having been in another place at the time of doing) The thief saved himself by claiming an alibi that he was out of city at that time.
105. Alternate (adj) (occurring by turns) I visit my friend on alternate Sunday.
106. Alternative (adj) (offering a choice of two things) I was given an alternative option by my boss in the office, and I was compelled to obey his rules than to resign the office.

107. Imaginary (adj) (relating to fantasy) Children often dream imaginary ideas.
108. Imaginative (adj) (relating to imagination) John Keats was a great imaginative poet.
109. Avocation (n) (hobby) My avocation is teaching.
110. Vocation (n) (occupation) My vocation is singing.
111. Apposite (adj) (proper) Your idea is apposite for my scheme.
112. Appraise (v) (to estimate) I appraised Anwar would be the thief, and I was right.
113. Apprise (v) (to inform) Head master should apprise all staff of his decision.
114. Apprehend (v) (to arrest someone for a crime) Younus was apprehended in the case of stealing a motor bike.
115. Comprehend (v) (to understand something difficult or complex) I comprehended your essay after reading three times.
116. Aural (adj) (relating to ear) Ali is an aural doctor.
117. Assay (n) (attempt) I am giving many assays to become successful in C.S.S. Exam.
118. Ail (v) (be ill) Do not drink wine so much, you will be ailed.
119. Ale (n) (a drink) I like Adam's ale.
120. Aught (pron) I do not care aught for my life.
121. Ought to (modal v) (must) I ought to read hard for my success in P.C.S. Exam.

122. Antic (adj) (odd) Your attitudes are antic nowadays.
123. Apathy (n) (indifference) Apathy creates many problems in friendships.
124. Antipathy (n) (dislike) I do not like to create antipathy in friendship.
125. Arc (n) (a part of circle) Draw an arc on your note book.
126. Baleful (adj) (full of anger) He is baleful at me.
127. Baneful (adj) (dangerous) Terrorism is baneful for the country.
128. Beneficent (adj) (kind) Every father must be beneficent to his sons and daughters.
129. Bourne (n) (boundary) I want to expand my house's bourne.
130. Burrow (v) (to make holes by digging) The rabbits burrow on any part of earth.
131. Bridle (n) (the headgear) Without a bridle, you cannot control your horse.
132. Placable (adj) (to stop from being angry) He is a placable boy among his friends.
133. Placeable (adj) (capable of being recognized) My shoes are placeable in the shelf for exhibition.
134. Calender (n) (a machine that finishes cloth) Textile factories need ten calenders.
135. Restive (adj) (unwilling to be patient) I am restive for marriage.

136. Restless (adj) (lack of rest) I am restless in my life due to unemployment.
137. Cemetery (n) (graveyard) Archaeologists found an ancient cemetery.
138. Symmetry (n) (balance) You have to bring symmetry in your novel.
139. Censer (n) (a vessel for burning perfumes) I want to buy a censer for my room.
140. Censor (n) (a person who examines books, movies, letters etc) I have been a censor for three years in N.R.S.P.
141. Censure (v) (to criticize severely) Endymion was censured by critics.
142. Cynosure (n) (a person or thing that attracts everyone's attention) She was cynosure of everyone's eyes in the marriage party.
143. Cellar (n) (underground room) There are many cellars in the torture cell of secret agency.
144. Chord (n) (a string of musical instrument) There is a fault in chords of harmony.
145. Cord (n) (a string) Balochi dresses are fashioned with colorful cords.
146. Cloak (n) (a piece of clothing that is used as a coat has no sleeves) I like a black cloak.
147. Commend (v) (praise) If you do right things, people will commend you.

148. Comprise (v) (to contain) My room comprises one bed, a sofa set, one table, and one chair.
149. Compliment (n) (a ceremonious greeting) My mother still gives compliment to us.
150. Confidante (n) (trusted friend) Sattar is my confidante.
151. Amiable (adj) (friendly) Javed is amiable to me anytime.
152. Amicable (adj) (pleasant in spite of difficult situation) He was amicable in the tussle between he and me.
153. Considerable (adj) (noticeable) Your speech is considerable.
154. Considerate (adj) (kind and helpful) Ali is considerate friend to me.
155. Momentary (adj) (lasting for a short time) Your success was momentary.
156. Momentous (adj) (lasting in future) Do such a work that will be momentous for you.
157. Virtuous (adj) (having good moral qualities) He is a virtuous person.
158. Virtual (adj) (be practical in action) He is the virtual owner of Oxford University.
- 159. Par
- 160. At a par
161. Compliment (n) (remark that expresses an admiration) He showed his compliment after success.

162. Complement (v) (to make something better) Your support in my hardworking complemented my preparation.
163. Complacent (adj) (satisfied) I am not complacent in my life.
164. Complaisant (adj) (willing to please other people) Doda is a complaisant boy.
165. Eminent (adj) (famous, important) Stephen Hawking was an eminent person.
166. Prominent (adj) (very important) Mohammad (PBUH) was a prominent prophet.
167. Below (adv) (in a lower position) You are below your brother in education.
168. Beneath (adv) (to a lower position) I kept a love letter beneath the carpet of your room.
169. Portly (adj) (fat and round) Amjid is a portly person.
170. Comely (adj) (attractive woman) Gazzala is very comely.
171. Setup (n) (the way in which something is set up) What about the setup of picnic?
172. Set upon (phr v) (to attack someone) He set upon me without any reason, and fortunately, I got safe.
173. Sink (v) (fall down in water) You do not swim in the sea, you will sink.

174. Drown (v) (to die by being unable to breath) Shelley was drowned in the sea while coming from France to England.
175. Altar (n) (a type of table used for ceremonies in Christianity) I need an altar.
176. Alter (v) (to change something) He altered my mind for the program of Dubai.
177. Apposite (adj) (suitable and appropriate) My essay is full of apposite ideas.
178. Opposite (adj) (different) These are opposite cars.
179. Bear (v) (to tolerate) I bear any hardship in my life.
180. Bare (adj) (not covered) Many people are living with their bare bodies in the world.
181. Confident (adj) (having confidence) I am a confident man.
182. Confidant (adj) (trusty person) Feroz is a confidant friend.
183. Gate (n) (main entrance) They broke my gate.
184. Gait (n) (a particular way of walking) I like good gait in morning.
185. Judicial (adj) (court of law) It is a judicial matter.
186. Judicious (adj) (having good judgment in making decision) He has judicious quality for any matter.
187. Yoke (n) (slavery) We do not accept yoke.
188. Yolk (n) (the yellow, middle part of egg) I like yolk.

189. Affection (n) (feeling of liking) She has much affection for me.
190. Affectation (n) (insincere behavior) English people showed much affectation in 16th century.
191. Official (adj) (relating to office) It is an official letter announced.
192. Officious (adj) (too eager to tell people) Javed is an officious man who is disliked in the office.
193. Urban (n) (city) Wordsworth did not like urban life.
194. Urbane (adj) (confident, formal and polite) Your speech is urbane.
195. Casual (adj) (happening by chance) It is casual to rain in Mekran.
196. Causal (adj) (causing something) Your decision was causal in leading me to downfall.
197. Pour (v) (to throw water over) She poured hot tea on me.
198. Pore (n) (a very small hole in the skin of people or animal) There are more than ten pores in your skin.
199. Humiliation (n) (to make someone ashamed) You did not notice my humiliation while making people laugh at me.
200. Humility (n) (the quality of being humble) Humility plays positive role in friendship.
201. Wreck (v) (to destroy) My life is wrecked due to conservative thoughts of family members.

202. Reek (v) (to have unpleasant smell) Do not eat onion, you will reek before people.
203. Temporal (adj) (relating to earthly life) Your success is temporal whether you show extra attitudes.
204. Temporary (adj) (not lasting) I use your room as temporary.
205. Cession (n) (the act of giving up something such as power, property etc.) His father became disappointed with his sons, he decided the cession of his property to his brother's sons.
206. Session (n) (formal meeting) Parliament is busy in sessions nowadays.
207. Canon (n) (a Christian priest) Pope was a great canon.
208. Cannon (n) (large and heavy gun) Many of armies have cannons in modern era.
209. Barbarism (n) (extreme cruelty) Barbarism was common in Europe in earlier time.
210. Barbarity (n) (cruelty) We do not accept the government's barbarity.
211. Artisan (n) (artist) He is a good artisan.
212. Antic (n) (funny and strange behavior) We do not bear your antics anymore.
213. Antique (n) (ancient things) I have collected antiques.
214. Illusion (n) (an idea which is not true) I have no illusions about my talent as rock-star.

215. Allusion (n) (indirect reference) Literary works are full of allusions.
216. Aspire (v) (to have a strong want) I am aspired to get marry very soon.
217. Expire (v) (near to end) My passport is expired.
218. Collision (n) (an accident of two vehicles by hitting to each other) There was happened a collision on the high way.
219. Collusion (n) (agreement between two people working secretly) You have to work in collusion with the terrorist network.
220. Expedient (adj) (helpful in a particular situation) It is expedient to pay him to meet his needs.
221. Expeditious (adj) (quick) My organization is expeditious in replying to his members.
222. Canvas (n) (piece of cloth used by artist to pain) I need two special canvases by Hockney.
223. Canvass (v) (try to get political support or votes by visiting all houses) I am canvassing for Labor Party every evening.
224. Cast (v) (to choose actors play particular parts in a film) I cast you as villain in my film Udas.
225. Caste (n) (a system divides man into classes) The caste system is at its peak in India.
226. Appraise (v) (to examine someone for his qualities) Teachers must be appraised after the selection.

227. Apprise (v) (to tell someone about something) He apprised me about his success.
228. Continual (adj) (happening repeatedly) The monsoon rains are continual.
229. Continuous (adj) (without a pause) The storm is continuous after the heavy rain.
230. Adapt (v) (to change behavior so that it is easier to live in a particular place) It takes time to adapt us in new settlement.
231. Adopt (v) (to choose as own) He adopted my car.
232. Artiste (n) (a skilled performer) Shakespeare was an artiste.
233. Mitigate (v) (to make something less harmful) It is very difficult how to mitigate the tourism in Pakistan.
234. Alleviate (v) (to reduce the pain or trouble) Pills do not alleviate my pain.
235. Persecute (v) (Cruelly over a long period of time) The terrorism is persecuted over us for 20 years in Pakistan.
236. Prosecute (v) (to officially accuse a person of committing a crime) The High Court prosecuted Younus as murderer of Akeel.
237. Popular (adj) (liked by everyone) Asad is a popular person.
238. Populace (n) (population) Balochistan has a less populace.

239. Excite (v) (to make someone have strong feelings) He is excited for his marriage.
240. Incite (v) (to encourage someone to do something bad) He incited my brother to kill a person.
241. Voracity (n) (excessive desire to eat) Voracity is not good habit for normal person.
242. Veracity (n) (the quality of being true and honest) Veracity plays an important role in making relationship.
243. Exceptional (adj) (much greater) He has exceptional quality.
244. Exceptionable (adj) (offensive and upsetting) Your role is exceptionable in the society.
245. Ardor (n) (great enthusiasm or love) I have ardor for you if you believe.
246. Order (n) (command) It is my order you go to the river to fish for the dinner.
247. Conquer (v) (to take control of foreign land) British conquered many lands.
248. Concur (v) (to agree with someone) I am concurred with you in this regard.
249. Cite (v) (to mention something as proof) I have cited many words of Shakespeare in my research.
250. Site (n) (place) Nali is a famous site.
251. Addict (v) (doing something repeatedly) He is now addicted to the wine.

252. Edict (n) (an official order) The spokesperson of Kamal Jamal issued an edict that all drivers would wield iron on the right side of their autos.
253. Proceed (v) (continue as planned) The election is still proceeded.
254. Precede (v) (go before something in time) The romanticism is preceded from Shakespeare to Wordsworth.
255. Rite (n) (an act that is part of a usually religious ceremony) Eids are rites of Muslims.
256. Eminent (adj) (important) Sir Syed was an eminent person.
257. Imminent (adj) (happening very soon) The exam of matriculation is imminent.
258. Deference (n) (respect) If you give deference, you will receive deference.
259. Eligible (adj) (having appropriate qualities) You are eligible for this post.
260. Illegible (adj) (impossible to read) Your essay is illegible.
261. Precedent (n) (an action or situation happened already) Your behavior is telling your precedent life in trouble.
262. Superficial (adj) (never think about important and serious things) You just made a superficial analysis of my thesis.

263. Superfluous (adj) (not necessary) Your presence is superfluous in the meeting.
264. Immigrant (n) (a person who comes from) Pakistan is full of Afghani immigrants.
265. Emigrant (n) (a person who emigrates) I am emigrant in Canada.
266. Contemptible (adj) (deserving contempt) You are a contemptible guy.
267. Contemptuous (adj) (showing deep hatred) Muslims are contemptuous of Hindues.
268. Outbreak (n) (something suddenly begins) War of Independence was an outbreak of Muslims in 1857.
269. Breakout (n) (a violent escape) The prisoners take breakout easily from the central jail of Turbat.
270. Felicitate (v) (to make happy) He often tries to felicitate me.
271. Layout (n) (the way something is arranged) It is the layout of our picnic.
272. Outlay (n) (an amount of money spent for a particular purpose) I need an outlay for Europe.
273. Seize (v) (to bring something under) Thieve seized my house to steel the jewelry last night.
274. Cease (v) (to stop) Many countries are ready to cease the war.
275. Carrier (n) (a person or thing that carries) I need a carrier to carry my goods to the transport.

276. Acculturate (v) (to change) Baloch are acculturating their culture.
277. Acclimatize (v) (to adjust to a new climate) You have to acclimatize to the weather of Europe after travelling.
278. Disclosure (n) (making something known) I need disclosure of your fact.
279. Exposure (n) (known to public) Your secrecy is exposure.
280. Rigorous (adj) (very strict) He is rigorous in temperament.
281. Vigorous (adj) (very forceful) French Revolution was vigorous.
282. Ascent (v) (climbs upward) I want to ascent the mountain Everest.
283. Prescribe (v) (a doctor writes as medicines) These tablets are prescribed by the doctor to me.
284. Proscribe (v) (to make something illegal) Homosexuality is proscribed in America.
285. Assent (v) (to agree to) I am assented to your point.
286. Deface (v) (spoil appearance of something by drawing on it) You defaced my drawing by throw ink on it.
287. Efface (v) (to remove something intentionally) Time effaces many memories.
288. Differ (v) He differs from me in education.
289. Defer (v) (to postpone) The date of exam is deferred.

290. Feat (n) (an act that shows courage, strength) You must have feat for climbing the Mount Everest.
291. Fair (adj) (honest, handsome) He has a fair face attracting everyone.
292. Fare (v) (money paid for something) I fare you 10000 rupees for your plat.
293. Envable (adj) (very desirable) I have an enviable reputation for friendship.
294. Envious (adj) (wishing you had what other person has) You are an envious boy.
295. Verbal (adj) (oral) It is just a verbal fight between them.
296. Verbose (adj) (containing more words unnecessary) Your essay is verbose.
297. Wave (v) (to raise your hand) I waved you last night, but you did not respond me standing with your friends on a shop.
298. Waive (v) (officially say you will not use something) He waived that this office was not mine.
299. Flatter (v) (to praise someone for making important) She was not beautiful as much as she flattered herself in the public.
300. Flutter (v) (to flap the wings) The parrot fluttered when I held it in my palm.
301. Raze (v) (to destroy completely) My house was razed by the storm.

302. Adept (adj) (having natural ability to do something) I am adept to hand any tussle.
303. Adapt (v) (to change) I have adapted my plain to a new scheme.
304. Adopt (v) (to choose) I have adopted this cat.
305. Smell (v) (felt by nose) I smelled the rose flowers which are attractive.
306. Stink (v) (to smell very unpleasant) The perfume which you use stinks.
307. Scent (n) (natural pleasant smell) The Boss perfume has a fantastic scent.
308. Quite (adv) (a little) He talked to me quite.
309. Quiet (n) (making little noise) Keep quiet in the library.
310. Recourse (n) (using someone or something for help in difficulty) The letter you wrote was a recourse for me which saved me from the arrest by police.
311. Resource (n) (natural gift) The country develops through the resources.
312. Premier (adj) (most important) He is a premier person in the government.
313. Premiere (n) (first public performance of a play) It is the premiere of PK by Amir Khan.
314. Ballot (n) (system of secret voting) The public election was conducted through the ballot.

315. Ballet (n) (a type of dance) The ballet was famous in 13th century in Europe.
316. Corps (n) (a military unit) Government should increase the corps in order to eliminate the terrorism.
317. Corpse (n) (dead body) There are many corpses shattered on the spot after the blast.
318. Route (particular direction)
319. Rout (n) (to defeat completely) I saw a rout of Christians walking on foot to their church.
320. Veil (n) (a piece of material worn by women) Her face was covered by the veil.
321. Vale (n) (valley) My village is a beautiful vale.
322. Queue (n) (a line of people) There is a queue of students waiting to submit their forms.
323. Cue (v) (signal to do something) There was a police raid, he cued me to run away.
324. Briefing (n) (an act of giving precise instructions or information) The government gave the briefing about the 20th amendment in the constitution.
325. Debrief (v) (to question someone about work) I am debriefed by my boss on daily base.
326. Dual (adj) (two) My cell phone is dual SIM.
327. Duel (n) (a formal fight) The armies of Pakistan and India are ready for a duel.
328. All (adv) (the whole) I have read all books of Paulo Coelho.

329. Awl (n) (a small tool makes holes in wood) We could not hole the woods because the awl was missing.
330. Buoy (n) (a floating object on the top of sea) They threw a piece of cloth as a buoy in the river to save the swimmers.
331. Fallow (adj) (a yellowish brown color) I like a fallow jacket.
332. Fellow (n) (associate person) He is my class fellow.
333. Jewry (n) (Jewish people) I saw a Jewry walking on the road on foot.
334. Jury (n) (a group of people chosen to hear all facts in a trial in court) Your case is pending because the jury is not ready to set.
335. Functional (adj) (to be practical) The party is functional nowadays.
336. Dysfunctional (adj) (no to be practical) His business seems dysfunctional.
337. Yew (n) (green tree) I like yews to grow in my courtyard.
338. Eue (unable to find this word in dictionaries)
339. Allusive (adj) (containing a lot of allusion) Your story is allusive completely.
340. Elusive (adj) (difficult to describe) Your essay is very elusive.

341. Ladylike (adj) (polite and quiet in way like woman)
You are ladylike in your attitudes when you behave with us.
342. Ladyship (n) Ladyship plays an important role to build up the society.
343. Altogether (adv) (completely) The story is written altogether.
344. All together (adv) (all at the same time) My all friend reached my home after my success.
345. Ambiguous (adj) (not understood clearly) Your speech which you delivered on the stage was ambiguous.
346. Ambivalent (adj) (having to opposing feelings at the same time to someone or something) It is not good you are ambivalent to me instead of helping you.
347. Deduce (v) (to use logic and reason to form a conclusion or opinion) This is not a minor issue. You have to deduce on it.
348. Imply (v) (to express something in an indirect way) He implied his love before Bushra.
349. Differ from (v) (to be not like) Everyone differs from other.
350. Differ with (v) (to disagree) He differs with me in this issue.
351. Occlude (v) (to close) The road was occluded by police through containers.

352. Occult (v) (to cover) I occult my courtyard by planting trees.
353. Avenge (v) (to do harm someone who has harmed you in return) He challenged to avenge me in public.
354. Revenge (v) (harm done to someone) He revenged against me as I slapped him before his brother.
355. Caret (n) (a mark used in writing) I found two carets in my manuscript.
356. Carat (a unit for measuring the weight of jewels)
357. Revel (v) (to take part in a celebrity) Every nation revels on its independence day.
358. Reveal (v) (to show) He revealed his love affairs to me.
359. Aviary (n) (a large cage) I need an aviary for my birds.
360. Apiary (n) (a place where people keep bees) I found an apiary.
361. Demean (v) (to cause someone to become less respected) He often demeans me before my friends.
362. Brooch (n) (a kind of jewelry) The bride looks ugly without wearing brooch.
363. Broad (adj) (very wide) He is very broad minded person.
364. Fain (adj) (glad, ready) I am fain in writing books.
365. Feign (v) (to pretend) He feigns to be mad.

366. Hoard (n) (a large amount of something valuable that is kept hidden) Government does not secure a hoard collected from public property.
367. Horde (n) (a large group of people) There is coming a horde of tourists in our valley.
368. Delusion (n) (a false idea) He is just showing delusion about the business.
369. Auger (n) (a sharp tool used for making hole) Your auger is blunt.
370. Augur (n) (predictor) Ali is an augur.
371. Simulation (n) (to conceal true feelings) Simulation is not good habit before parents.
372. Dissimulation (n) (to conceal one's true feelings or intentions) He often does dissimulation before the friends.
373. Trifling (adj) (trivial) You have the trifling idea.
374. Venal (adj) (willing to do dishonest things in return for money) It is common to do venal action in modern era.
375. Venial (adj) (not serious) Akbar is venial in his life.
376. Depreciate (v) (to lower in value) He wanted to depreciate me in public, but all went in vain.
377. Deprecate (v) (to criticize) He deprecated my work published before his work, although both are in same category.
378. Punctual (adj) (doing something at correct time) He is a punctual student.

379. Punctilious (adj) (very careful) He is very punctilious in his life.
380. Salutory (adj) (having a good result after something unpleasant has happened) Jail is a salutory place for the criminals.
381. Salubrious (adj) (clean, pleasant and healthy to live) Life needs salubrious air to live.
382. Moat (n) (a deep and wide ditch filled with water that goes around the walls of a place to protect it from being attacked) Muslims were saved by moat in the battle of ditch.
383. Mote (aux v) (may) I mote pass the C.S.S. Exam.
384. Loath (adj) (to be unwilling to do something) I am loath to participate in politics.
385. Loathe (v) (to hate someone or something) Rashid often loathes me whenever he sees me in happiness.
386. Affluence (n) (having a lot of money) I need affluence to change my life.
387. Effluence (n) (a thing that flows forth) Water is effluence.
388. Wretch (n) (a very unhappy and unpleasant person) He is a wretch in the life.
389. Retch (v) (to vomit or to react in a way as if you are vomiting) Moula Baksh has been retching since last night.

390. Euphemistic (adj) (a word or phrase used to avoid offensive word) Senior is euphemistic word for elder people.
391. Euphuistic (adj) (an elegance of language) Dryden's works are euphuistic.
392. Amoral (adj) (without moral principles) He likes a life that must be amoral.
393. Immoral (adj) (morally wrong) Javed is an immoral person.
394. Imperial (adj) (relating to an emperor or empire) Imperial period was gone since the democracy came into existence.
395. Imperious (adj) (showing proud and unpleasant attitude of someone who orders and expects others to obey him) Salman behaved with me in imperious manner while we were working in collaboration.
396. Degrade (v) (to lower in rank and status) Your bad attitudes degrade you in the society.
397. Denigrate (v) (to say someone or something is not important) You should not denigrate me, I am more than you.
398. Precipitate (v) (to make something happen soon) Fear of failing in job test precipitated me into action to read more.

399. Precipitous (adj) (happening in a very quick and sudden way) His marriage was precipitous which shocked everyone.
400. Luxuriant (adj) (growing thickly, strongly and well) My uncle has a luxuriant house.
401. Luxurious (adj) (comfortable and expensive) Everyone wants luxurious life.
402. Mean (v) (to express something, idea, fact or thought) I mean the modern era is full corrupt people.
403. Mien (n) (a person's appearance or facial expression) Your aristocratic mien is telling all about you whether you pretend or not.
404. Observance (n) (the practice of following a custom, rule, law, etc.) Hosting the guest is the observance of Baloch.
405. Knotty (adj) (complicated and difficult to solve) The question paper was knotty.
406. Ghostly (adj) (relating to ghost) It was a ghostly dream.
407. Ghastly (adj) (unpleasant) Today weather is ghastly.
408. Hew (v) (to shape something by cutting with a heavy tool) I hewed logs to build a cabin.
409. Hue (n) (a particular shade of a given color) In the water of my pool, there is a marvelous hue glimmers day time.

410. Adverse (adj) (not good) He is always adverse to me as if I snatched his fiancée.
411. Averse (adj) (strongly dislike or oppose to) He is averse to dance on the stage.
412. Maize (n) (a tall plant grows in many parts of world) I want to grow maize in my courtyard.
413. Maze (v) (to shock someone) It mazed me when I saw Ahmed wearing a wig.
414. Medal (n) (a small piece of metal) I want to win the gold medal in MPhil.
415. Meddle (v) (to participate in others' works without being asked) Ahmad always meddles in things which do not belong to him.
416. Ordinance (n) (a law or rule made by government) Government should pass the ordinance for the disable persons.
417. Ordnance (n) (all military weapons) A country suffers in backwardness if it lacks ordnance.
418. Willful (adj) (done deliberately) It is a willful conspiracy made against me.
419. Capitol (n) (the building in which a state legislature meets) A secret meeting of army was held in the capitol.
420. Assay (n) (an examination or test) The gold was put in the assay to make purify.
421. Decree (n) (an official statement or order) Many persons were imprisoned by the decree of court.

422. Desolate (adj) (very lonely and sad) My life is desolate.
423. Dissolute (adj) (immoral) He is leading a dissolute life.
424. Species (n) (a set of animals or plants) World is full of different species.
425. Specie (n) (rupee, coin) Rupee is Pakistan's specie.
426. Tortuous (adj) (not simple) We took our journey in a tortuous route.
427. Torturous (adj) (causing torture) Your idea is torturous to me.
428. Whet (v) (to increase interest of someone) The Alchemist whetted my appetite to read more novels.
429. Adjoin (v) (joined with something) My room adjoins my drawing room.
430. Adjourn (v) (to postpone) The meeting was adjourned for further notice.
431. Allay (v) (to make quiet) Nurse allayed me when I was admitted in the hospital.
432. Ally (v) (to join another) I ally myself with NRSP for the better future.
433. Clique (n) (a small, closed off group of people) We are a clique from the school.
434. Distract (v) (to draw someone's attention away) You tried to distract me from watching the movie.
435. Detract (v) (to take away) You tried to detract my main idea but you got failed.

436. Liable (adj) (legally responsible for something) If the court orders me to go to the jail, you are liable of it.
437. Libel (n) (publishing a false statement to cause people have a bad opinion of someone) It was just a libel put on me that I was involved in persuading Ahmed to commit suicide.
438. Plaintiff (n) (a person who accuses another person of crime in the court) Your plaintiff did not do well, he caused me to suffer in the jail without any reason.
439. Plaintive (adj) (having a sad sound) He sang a song in a plaintive manner as if someone close left him.
440. Valet (n) (an employee of hotel who serves guests) We have to find a good valet to entertain us at Beach Luxury Hotel.
- 441. Variety
442. Monitor (v) (to observe or watch) You monitor the students in the class.
443. Mentor (v) (to advise or train a younger less experienced) My mother always mentors me before leaves the room.
444. Penitence (n) (feeling of deep sadness because you have done something wrong) He is suffering in penitence because he has abused his father.
445. Penance (n) (to tolerate the suffering of a sin) I am facing the penance because of raping a teenage girl.

446. Zealot (n) (one who has excessive devotion to a cause) I have literary zealot.

Pairs of Words of Past Papers

1. Ever (adv) (at any time, at all times) Inflation will increase ever in Pakistan.
2. Aver (v) (to declare positively) I aver to you that if you do not pay attention to your career, you will lose it.
3. Glade (n) (a grassy open space in forest) I am sitting in glade.
4. Glad (adj) (very happy) I am glad to see you after a long time.
5. Cobble (v) (to repair shoes) The cobbler cobbled my shoes badly.
6. Coble (n) (a kind of boat) I want sail on a coble.

7. Popular (adj) I am a popular person in my society.
8. Populous (adj) (having a large population) China is a populous country.
9. Vain (adj) (too proud of your own appearance) She is a vain girl.
10. Vein (n) (any tube carries blood in body) There is a barrier in vein of his heart.
11. Lend (v) (to give money as a return) I lend you 10000 rupees to do your work, and you will return to me within two months.
12. Borrow (v) (to take money from others) You borrow me 10000 rupees, I will return to you within three months.
13. Human (adj) (affecting people) The dog of Ka'af had human qualities.
14. Humane (adj) (kind and gentle) He is a humane person.
15. Currant (n) (a dry fruit) Currant is my favorite dry fruit.
16. Current (adj) (happening in present time) Kashmir issue is a current news.
17. Example (n) (model) Give us true examples.
18. Specimen (n) (example) Prophet Mohammad (PBUH) is the best specimen of leadership.
19. Eminent (adj) (well-known and respected) Mr. Been is an eminent person.

20. Imminent (adj) (happening very soon) Our examination is imminent.
21. Adopted (v) (to take a child or have) In ancient time, the kings often adopted children.
22. Adapted (v) (to change your behavior so that it is easier to live in a particular place) I have adapted myself to the weather in Quetta.
23. Altogether (adv) (completely) I have read this book altogether.
24. All together (adv) (all) The students marched to the office of head master all together.
25. Most (adj) (the majority of) Most people like to change the tradition.
26. More (adj) (extra, additional) I need more money for my education.
27. Defy (v) (to refuse to obey someone or something) I defy you as my senior in the office.
28. Deify (v) (to treat someone or something like a god) Ancient people deified Aristotle.
29. Corps (n) (a military unit) Government increase corps to eradicate the terrorism in the country.
30. Corpse (n) (dead body) There are more than hundred corpses shattered on the road.
31. Afflict (v) (to cause pain or suffering) Do not smoke cigarette excessively, it afflicts you badly.

32. Inflict (v) (affected by something unpleasant) These tablets inflict you the more.

33. Faction (n) (a group within a large group) Party was divided into faction.

34. Fiction (n) (a written story that is not true) Nowadays I am interest in reading fictions.

www.mycareers.pk